

Idea of a character building chart

what / who is the character:

active or reactive:

weakness which is linked with their desire:

his/her goal aka their desire :

what they need:

personality layer 1:

Personality layer 2:

Personality layer 3:

and how many ever personality layers you want to add defining trait:

types of own opinion in the story (because reactive characters are poison) and reasoning for it :

physical weaknesses:

Mental weaknesses:

Physical strengths:

Mental weaknesses:

strengths as a character:

how does the character change other characters:

their opinion of how the world works:

the way they react in situations in the beginning of the story:

the way they react in situations in the end of their arc:

I don't know if this is how actual writers write characters but judging by all the videos I've watched on YouTube about writing I think this is at least usable

